Dear Friends,

The author of Ecclesiastes, called "The Teacher," wrote: "To everything there is a season, and a time for every purpose under heaven." He then goes on to write a litany of the events and concerns that seem to have a timeline to them, that seem to come and go in life, so that we know when the painful side of life confronts us, the healing hopeful side will follow. As a pastor, I have preached this scripture for funerals and for weddings. It is appropriate for both, because life brings the good and the bad. Jesus said the rain falls and the sun shines on the good and the bad. We call times of trial rainy days, and times of unanticipated joy our sunny days.

As we have just changed from summer to fall on the calendar, it is a reminder that we identify many things by the seasons, including life. Spring is likened to childhood and youth as we venture into the world to explore all of the possibilities of life. Summer is identified with young adulthood as we move with energy into life taking on new responsibilities and looking for what makes us enjoy life a little more. Middle adulthood is identified as the autumn of our years when we finish some of our tasks and begin to wonder where the plans went we had made when we were younger. And finally, elderly years become seen as the winter of our lives, because our abilities are fading, our expectation of more life is limited, and we can see with new eyes the promise of life after death. One looks back and reflects on the good and the bad in life, and makes decisions on continued life or giving in to the aches and pains of old age.

These seasons affect the life of the church, too. When a congregation is planted, however long ago that was, the founders could vision all the possibilities that lay ahead. As the church became vibrant and strong, it moved into a time of wooing new people, trying new ministries, and claiming an identity. As the autumn years in the life of a congregation comes, the members think of how it used to be, wonder how they got where they currently are, and regret the things they did not do. When the winter years come, when the members are tired from all the doing, when their own lives seem limited, and they wonder if death will come to the congregation, there is a time of deep reflection about why the church is in the place it is in the first place. The congregation has to make decisions about what's next.

All churches must make decisions at some point, recognize the seasons of ministry, recognize the season of life in which it is currently functioning. But, in the process of reflection, every church can claim new life, since the church exists because of Jesus Christ, who promised new life to all who believe that he can give life, and to all who follow his way. The seasons change. All people, all things grow older. But in Christ, we can claim life rather than death, as persons and as a congregation. Which will we choose?

One of our hymns, #583 in the hymnal, is "You are the Seed." The third verse says:
 You are the life that will nurture the plant;
 You're the waves in a turbulent sea;
 Yesterday's yeast is beginning to rise,
 A new loaf of bread it will yield.
 There is no place for a city to hide,
 Nor a mountain can cover its might;
 May your good deeds show a world in despair
 A path that will lead all to God.

Even as we age, we have seeds to plant for those still in the spring and summer of their faith lives. We have wisdom, lessons we've learned, the capacity to love, and a great understanding of grace, because we've experienced it. And we have faith in God through Jesus Christ that life goes on. We are called to go and share the good news.

See you in church.

God's Peace and Blessing,
 Pastor Ruth Solo

Stewardship

“Enough” Stewardship Campaign Introduction

Enough: Discovering Joy Through Simplicity and Generosity

Stress. Anxiety. Fear. These words capture well the state of mind of many of us in America today. We have witnessed dramatic market losses, the collapse of the world's largest insurance company just three years ago, and many bankruptcies and mergers. Every day seems to bring another piece of economic uncertainty as the market goes up and down unpredictably.

A recent survey found that over three in four Americans are stressed about the economy and their personal finances. Half were worried about providing for their family's basic needs. Over half of respondents reported feeling angry and irritable, and reported lying awake at night worried about this. The report concludes that, “The declining state of the nation's economy is taking a physical and emotional toll on people nationwide.”¹ While there are small signs of improvement, the unemployment rate continues to weigh heavily on people's minds as adult children of many of us find themselves in the unemployment line.

Join us in worship the weeks of October 9, 16, 23, and 30th, for a sermon series entitled Enough: Discovering Joy Through Simplicity and Generosity. Our nation is experiencing what many have described as the “American Nightmare.” Increasing consumer debt, declines in savings, lower income growth, an unemployment rate nearing double digits, and a volatile stock market are all a part of our economic insecurity. We have lived in a society that tells us “you deserve it now,” whether or not we can afford it or really even need it.

All of us have struggled with these issues at one time or another. They are important issues that we cannot ignore. This is why, over the four weeks in October, we will be offering a study and worship emphasis called Enough: Discovering Joy Through Simplicity and Generosity. During this time we will explore what the Bible teaches us about financial management through corporate worship and a small group study led by Pastor Ruth. We'll hear expert advice and stories about what others have learned by working through financial challenges. Each week we will provide you with some practical tools you can use to assess your financial situation and develop a financial plan with a biblical foundation.

At the conclusion of the emphasis, we will have the opportunity to make personal commitments of our offerings to God through our church in the coming year. We will consecrate these commitments in the worship service on the last Sunday in October, with a celebration luncheon to follow (see the schedule that follows).

I hope you will join us in the coming weeks as we look at how we can manage our financial resources and truly experience simplicity, generosity, and joy.

Schedule of Events:

Sunday, October 2	Small-Group Study Begins 15 minutes after worship
Sunday, October 9	Sermon: When Dreams Become Nightmares
Sunday, October 16	Sermon: Wisdom and Finance
Sunday, October 23	Sermon: Cultivating Contentment
Sunday, October 30	Sermon: Defined by Generosity – Consecration Sunday followed by a Celebration Carry-in Pot luck Luncheon. Sandwiches and drink provided. We ask the congregation to bring a covered dish. Small-Group Study Ends 15 minutes after luncheon ends.

Dear Pastor Solo,

Now that our Youth Summer Reading Program has been completed, the Elida Branch Library would like to say a huge thank you to you and your parishioners for once again opening your church to us. Your basement and central location provide an ideal setting for us to be able to present special programs to our young patrons and their families. Without your generosity, the library would be hard-pressed to deliver programs as we have no space or facility in which to do so. Please accept our heartfelt gratitude to you, Gail Fessler and your congregation for helping us make this year's Summer Reading a success.

Sincerely,
Stephanie Rhine and Becky Mack

Changing Like the Leaves

*When the sky does not provide Enough essential rain
In the fall for leaves to turn,
The color green they remain.
There is no breathtaking wonder
For my curious eyes to behold;
The leaves are only green and brown,
Instead of red, pink, purple, orange or gold.
God's word is nutritious;
To our souls, it is like rain.
And so one day we die without
Having our colors shown full and bright.
What a loss to all in this world
To never get to witness this beautiful sight!
God created us to grow and change,
To embrace this season we must
By opening up to let His Word inside
Before we turn to dust.*

Living Our Faith

Now and then, set aside for yourself a day on which, without hindrance, you can be at leisure to praise God and to make amends for all the praise and thanksgiving you have neglected all the days of your life to render to God for all the good he has done. This will be a day of praising and thanksgiving and a day of jubilation, and you will celebrate the memory of that radiant praise with which you will be jubilant to the Lord for eternity, when you will be satisfied fully by the presence of God, and the glory of the Lord will fill your soul.
